<sup>2</sup> The Council members named in this column are those which, in addition to the vetoing permanent member(s), did not vote in favour of the proposal.

<sup>3</sup> Of this total, 114 vetoes were cast under the name of the Soviet Union and 31 under the name of the Russian Federation.

<sup>4</sup> Official communiqués recorded that one draft resolution on 13 March 1953 and another on 19 November 1996 on appointing the Secretary-General were vetoed at private meetings. The communiqués did not identify the vetoers, but the Soviet Union later acknowledged its veto in the first case and the United States, in the second. These two vetoed resolutions are entered in this table but because they were only informally attributed, they have not been included in the totals per permanent member.

<sup>5</sup> One veto was cast in 1955 by China when it was represented at the UN by the Republic of China. All subsequent vetoes have been cast by the People's Republic of China.

<sup>6</sup> Voting was carried out in accordance with the procedure used during the COVID-19 pandemic as set out in the letter of 27 March 2020 from the Council President (S/2020/253).

<sup>8</sup> In addition to vetoing the draft resolution as a whole, prior to that vote the Soviet Union also vetoed each of two paragraphs.

<sup>9</sup> The first of the Soviet vetoes at this meeting was on the “Preliminary question”, i.e., the determination of whether the draft resolution was procedural and not subject to veto, or substantive and subject to veto. It having been determined that the draft was substantive, the negative Soviet vote on the draft itself constituted the second veto at this meeting.
